

PROPERTY HOTSPOTS IN SPAIN

A Note From The Author

Spain is certainly a hotspot! I'm sure you've seen the adverts in the local and national press offering superb properties at attractive prices. But guidance is needed. Spain is a big country! There are hotspots and not-so-hot hotspots. You need to know a little bit more than what the selling agent is telling you.

My expertise is in the UK market but the same principles hold – will you get a good rental income and will you get good capital growth? Another feature is will you have a fun holiday home? All these questions need answering. Well I hope this guide does this for you.

The key thing with any oversea property investment is that you get everything you want from it. Depending on what type of investor you are will determine what you want. If its yield then go for for the high yielding all year round season properties. If its capital growth then go for the areas that are developing. If it's a fun holiday home then go for the area with the most facilities. If its all of these then go for the area that meets all of these – and there are the areas that can do this!

If you need further help with acquiring an overseas property then contact me at www.ajayahuja.co.uk

Good luck!

Introduction

What is a Hotspot?

A hotspot is an area where there are properties available for sale that fall into one of these categories:

Category	Description
A	Property prices are predicted to rise at a greater rate than the national average AND the rental yield is greater than the national average.
В	The rental yield is greater than the national average.
С	Property prices are predicted to rise at a greater rate than the national average.

I have ranked the categories with category A being the most desirable as category A enjoys the best of both worlds – capital growth and yield thus spreading the return and overall risk. Category B is ranked second as the yield is a certain outcome however capital growth is an uncertain outcome being category C.

I've found in my experience that investors choose category A, B or C on personal circumstances but more so on gut reaction. So trust your instincts! If you like the place then buy it. Remember this investment is not only based on financials but also on whether you'll get enjoyment out of the property. To quantify this within the book is impossible. Only you know this value and you have to weigh it up against the financials.

Identification of Hotspot

So how did I identify the hotspots listed? Well the categories are based on two factors:

- 1. Actual rental yields
- 2. Predicted property prices

1. Actual Rental Yields

The first factor, actual rental yields, was easy to do. Actual rental yield is:

ACTUAL YEARLY RENT ACTUAL PROPERTY PRICE

Since these figures are actuals, we collated all the rental figures from local letting agents in Spain and all the local property prices from the estate agents in Spain and calculated all the yields being offered from all the locations. We then eliminated all the poor yielding locations and where we thought tenant demand was so low not to cover the running costs of the property (even if the area was high yielding).

2. Predicted Property Prices

Here I did not predict property prices as this is an impossible thing to do. If I could do this I would not be writing this book but buying everything I could in a hotspot area! All I did was to look at what would make an area's property price rise above the national average. I came up with the following:

- Future residential developments in the area.
- Proposed inward investment from private companies, government and trusts.
- Proposed improvements to leisure facilities such as sport centres, parks and shopping centres.
- The likelihood of holiday seasons being lengthened.
- Our own experience gathered from being in this industry and from comments from letting and estate agents.

The Four Types Of Investor?

So you know you want to invest in an overseas property by why and how are you going to invest in such a property? Well there are many ways to invest in an overseas property but we have narrowed these ways down in to four types. Investors can be broadly categorised into one of the following and it is up to you to decide which category or categories you fit into:

Investor	Description	Profile
Retirement	This investor is looking for a	He will be typically aged over 50 and home to spend either all or	be looking for somewhere that has some of their time in Spain to	good leisure facilities and be near the that Spain offers.

Worker	This investor is looking for a	He will be typically aged over 21, home where they can live and	possibly self-employed and depending work so that their overall	on his profession wishing to locate to a quality of life is improved.	city where there is more work, or near a coastal town where there are more leisure facilities but he can still work through phone, email, fax and internet.

Holiday	This investor is looking for a	He will typically be aged over 30 with a holiday home, typically used	family. His aim is to save on holiday for 4 – 6 weeks in a year. The	rental fees, rent to friends & family and rest of the time the property is	ultimately pass down the property to Business	This investor is looking to buy	He will be typically aged over 21 and and rent properties in Spain for	either fed up with the high UK prices or profit. His aim is purely	looking to diversify their portfolio by other than the UK.

From reading this list you will be able to decide what type of investor you are and more importantly what you want to get from your investment. Once you are clear what you want then the whole process becomes easier as you know exactly what you are looking for.

number of high streets which mainly consist of fashion boutiques and leather stores. Festivities include carnival week in 2nd week of February and a fiesta on the 15th of May. Estepona is a 45 minute drive to Gibraltar.

There is a constant shortage of rental properties in Estepona, especially town houses and villas for long-term lets. This has driven the price up of town house and villas due to the business investors moving in. But there are still some to be had and you'll have no problem letting them.

Estepona is one of the hottest resorts and the season is almost all year round. Rental demand is consistent throughout the year and will be in the future. Yields will be stable for at least the next 5 years. There is no sign of major capital growth within this time but over the long term it will move in line with the average.

Description	Marbella is located beneath the Sierra Blanca mountain range
:	and is divided into two main parts- the old town, surrounded by Moorish fortress v	valls and o	characterised b	y narrow stre	ets, and the new town, ch	naracterise	ed by wide tre	e-lined aven	ues and
	the new town, ch	naracterise	ed by wide tre	e-lined aven	ues and high-rise blocks. Exclusive developments such as Hacienda Las Chapas, Los Monteros, El Rosario, Nagueles ('Golden Mile') and Nueva Andalucia surround the town and are made up of mostly luxurious mansions.

I would consider this part to be the best part of Costa del Sol. To the west of Marbella lies the famous leisure marina Puerto Banus where anyone who's anyone can be found. The beach stretch of Marbella is massive, totalling 26 km, so you'll have no trouble finding a suitable sun bathing spot. In the centre of the old town there is the Orange Square where there are stately buildings, small shops, art galleries, bars and bistros to keep you busy.

Even though the property prices are high so are the rents. Yields are around 9% which is quite respectable compared to what you can get in the UK. You will never be short of a tenant as long as your property is up to scratch. People of this area expect a lot and if they get it they'll pay well for it!

:	promenade and is built up with many high rise apartment blocks and hotels. A popular tourist resort with holidaymakers of many different	nationalities includ	ing the Spaniards themselves – so it car	n't be that bad!

Although it has been extensively built up and developed, a few traditionally Mediterranean-style buildings can still been found in the town e.g. the Pueblo Lopez neighbourhood. Fuengirola is one of the less expensive parts of the Costa del Sol to live, and during the winter season there are many residents of retired age.

Small apartments are the cheapest type of property, while villas and townhouses particularly in Pueblo Lopez can be very expensive. Recently there have been new residential developments around the town, such as Las Lagunas, Los Pacos and Torreblanca - property here is often cheaper than Pueblo Lopez.

Yields are healthy and above average but the growth prospects are even better. This place has loads of activities going on! Financially you cant go wrong with this area. Its easily accessible, not over priced, has low crime rates and well connected.

Description	Mijas consists of a	small Andalusian vi	llage located in the :	mountains above F	uengirola, and also o	of the area between Fuengirola and port (Cabopino, known as M	lijas Costa.

Mijas Costa is made up of several residential developments such as Calahonda, El Chaparral, El Faro, La Cala, Miraflores, Riviera del Sol and Torrevieja. There residential complexes are home to many of the area's ex-patriot population, composed mainly of British, Germans and Scandinavians. Calahonda and Riviera del Sol are mainly inhabited by a British population.

Mijas village has very narrow and steep streets (limited to pedestrians and donkeys) and has Roman, Moorish and Spanish monuments. Property in the village is more expensive than outside of it. Stick to the complexes.

I struggle to find what's wrong with this place. If I was pushed I would say that demand tails off for some of the off peak season. Otherwise the yields are great, the properties are of good value, there's loads to do, it has low crime rates and it's easy to get to – what more do you want!

Description	Benalmadena is one of the newer resorts on the coast, but has :	already become the 2 nd most popular tourist destination in the area (after Torremolinos). It consists of a tradional Andalucian village on a moun	tain, a 9 km coast	al area (known as Benalmadena Costa), and the area betw	veen the two (called Arroyo de la Miel).

Benalmadena village is the quietest area. Arroyo de la Miel is busier and more commercialised, having the town's railway station, as well as many shops, businesses and accommodation. Benalmadena Costa is made up of big hotels and apartment blocks, and has a marina (called Puerto Marina). The marina has a hypermarket/small shopping centre and several restaurants, bars and nightclubs.

The area has just got its first Casino which is very upmarket and attracts clientele accordingly. There are still parts of it being built and when completed this resort will become one of Spain's finest. The climate here in the summer gets beyond hot! If you like a resort where you can get an instant tan then you won't be disappointed with Benalmadena.

Yields are above average and the potential for growth is above average so this makes it a true hotspot. Try to go no more than 0.25 miles inland to ensure your purchase rents out consistently. If you can avoid holidaying during school peak as rental rates jump up here more than usual.

Description Torremolinos is the busiest resort in the Costa del Sol and the 3rd busiest in Spain. It is also one of the oldest resorts, having been developed in the early 1960s. The majority of the area is characterised by high-rise hotel and apartment blocks, although there are also some newer residential areas with townhouses and villas to the west. The beaches are clean and well-maintained and there is an abundance of bars, restaurants and nightlife so it makes a great location for a holiday home.

Property prices are relatively cheap, with the exception of the Montemar area. The cheaper properties are available in the 1960's and 1970's-built apartment blocks on a re-sale basis. Surprisingly the rental prices are lower than it neighbours but this is probably due to the over supply of rental properties. If you want to command a decent rent for the majority of the peak periods then go for the newer developments. If you want to take a risk and not too bothered about the financials then bargain properties can be had simply to be your holiday home.

Because of the well developed property market in this area try and get the local press. There are many properties advertised here. Consider advertising in the local press expressing your wants and what you are willing to spend. The property market is fluid here. There are always buyers as well as sellers looking to make that deal.

Description	Malaga is the 5 th la	argest city in Spain.	A Moorish history is :	evident, in particula	r the Alcazaba fortres	s and the Gibralfaro castle. The old to	wn has narrow stre	ets surrounding the cathedral and can p	rove to be an interesti	ng walk. The modern part of town has th	e bus and railway st	ation and is west of Guadalmedina river.
	It has a busy port	which keeps employr	nent levels high and therefore tenant de	mand high throughou	t the year. It has a

The university and science park in the Teatinos district is in the west of city and there are several exclusive residential areas - Colonia de Santa Ines and Puerto de la Torre behind Teatinos district which have been quite popular with the British. Cerrado de Calderon, Limonar, Malagueta and Pedregalejo are east of the city centre which have also been quite popular.

The property market in Malaga is a stable one due to longerterm residences compared with other coastal resorts. The market is made up of mostly apartments - houses tend to be limited top exclusive areas. Property is cheaper than other parts of coast, except for the exclusive areas – its just a matter of time before these cheaper properties catch up so there is plenty of scope for capital growth. Prices have gradually risen in past few years and demand is high for most of the year due to a large university population.

Futura, Thomas Cook, Astraeus, Air 2000, My Travel, EasyjetDescription Nerja is located below the Sierra Almijara mountains, with 5: sandy beaches stretched over 6 miles.

This area is a little gem. It has a more traditional Spanish character with not as many high-rise apartment and hotel blocks as other resorts and is less lively. It is instead characterised by an old town, limestone caves and a tree-lined promenade (Balcon de Europa). Monuments in the town include El Salvador church (1505), Ermita de Ntra. Sra. de las Angustias (1720) and Torre de Macaca (1497).

Property is slightly more expensive than other parts of eastern Costa del Sol particularly in the village of Frigiliana. It's a popular place with foreign homebuyers which has pushed the property prices beyond some people's reach. Owners have seen their investment rise steeply over the past 5 years and I reckon it will continue even though the prices are high. Yields are not the most exciting but if you can break even then you have done well. You are more than compensated by the growth prospects and the fact that you have a superior holiday home compared to other areas on the coast.

Description	Barcelona is c	one of Spair	n's largest and	liveliest citi	es, located on the north-east coast between the Costa Dorada and the Costa Brava. It is the capital of the Catalunia region and is Spain's most successful commercial centre, with a wealth of cultural and leisure activities.

It is characterised by Gothic and Art Nouveau architecture, and also a large port. Tourist areas include the Antoni Gaudi monuments, the Sagrada Familia cathedral, the old Gothic cathedral (Barri Gotic), and Las Ramblas.

The city has received much recognition since hosting the Olympics in 1992. The Olympics also led to new parks and gardens being built along the seafront. There is also now a promenade with shops and hotels along the 3-mile stretch of beach from Barceloneta to the riu Besos.

Property in the city itself is generally expensive, although cheap properties can still be found in the old quarter. Popular places for foreign homebuyers to buy to live are the residential areas of Pedralbes, Sarria and Tres Torres located in the north of Barcelona, and Les Corts in the west of the city. Another desirable area is Vila Olympica by the port where there are modern apartments. Properties in the city centre mainly consist of apartments. Townhouses and villas are mainly found in the north and west of the city.

Description	Located on the mos	t southern part of Cost	a Brava at the foot of :	Mount St. Joan, Bla	ines is a holiday reso	rt particularly popular with Spanish holidaymakers of all ages.
	Important monumer	nts in the area incluc	le Saint Joan tower,
	Vescomtes de Cabr	era church and El Vila	ar chapel. Blanes has Vescomtes de Cabrera church and El Vilar chapel. Blanes has a range of amenities, including 4 km of shingle beaches and a commercial centre with all the shops you need. The resort combines these modern facilities with the traditional feel of a Mediterranean fishing town. There is the Cuban Habaneras Festival (folksong concerts) during summer and the annual firework contest in July.

Property is considered cheap, and there has been an increase in the number of foreign purchasers. Captial growth is very likely as the only way is up! Many of the residential developments are set in pine forests. As a bonus the cost of living is also cheap, although it does increase in the Summer – but you cant have everything!

promenade lined with palm trees recently been added to make it more attractive. It is less crowded than Costa Blanca. The town of Lloret has Gothic parish church and a 10th century chapel.

> Property prices are cheap, cheap, cheap! You can nick a 1 bed property here for around £30k. Not only that its cheap to get here! Yields are fantastic and the scope for growth is excellent. This area is a low risk entry to Spain if you are seriously considering buying in Spain. There's loads to do here and if you only rent out the property in the school holiday peak then you'll cover all costs. That means you get a holiday home for free for the rest of the year – now that can't be bad!

 Description
 Tossa de Mar is a built-up and developed resort, popular with British package tourists like Lloret de Mar. Unlike Lloret de Mar

British package tourists like Lloret de Mar. Unlike Lloret de Mar however, this resort has more of a Spanish atmosphere. The area consists of 2 main beaches (Mar Grand and La Bauma) surrounding a medieval town. The town also has an old quarter surrounded by 12th century walls.

> Yields are good but the scope for capital growth is limited. There are no future building plans that we could find – but don't let this put you off. There's lots to do, the climate's good and its clean. Its also cheap to get here.

> With all holiday homes you have to balance out the facilities offered by the area with the amount of return you expect from the property. This area can offer you a great holiday home and will pay for itself but don't expect more than that. If you're in it for the long term then there could be good returns to be had within the 10-20 year timescale. It is an attractive resort and this, some day, will be recognised.

Description	The city of Almeria	a is situate	d on the sout	h east coast o	of Spain,
:	bordering with the	e provinces	s of Granada	and Murcia,	with its coast lying betwe	en Costa E	Blanca and Co	osta del Sol.	Almeria city has a preserv	ved Mooris	h heritage wi	th a Moorish	fortress and old gypsy qua	arter. Other	monuments	include the A	lcazabar and the cathedral.
	There is a big loca	al African p	opulation and	I this is appar	ent from some of the shop	s and resta	aurants here.	Almeria is a	wealthy area with a high cost of living so be prepared. One thing to note is that property is on the whole cheaper than on the Costa del Sol but the prices are expected to rise. The higher cost of living acts as a barrier to ownership. Hopefully with time the property prices and cost of living will harmonise with the rest of the Costa del Sol resulting in capital growth and a cheaper cost of living.

The climate gets very hot in the summer being one of its main attractions. As a result the tourism sector is set to expand as well as the facilities. Several sport centres are being built to cater for the forthcoming 2005 games so inward investment is high. If you want to benefit from this then buy when it is currently cheap – like now!

Description	Roquetas de Mar is	the largest resort ir	n Costa de Almeria,
:	specialising in packa	ge holidays. The reso	ort developed from a typical fishing village	which still exists. It h	as a number of long sandy beaches (incl	uding a naturist bea	ch!) and a harbour.
	Sights to see in t	he town include the	e Roman statue of Dionysius, the prese	rved amphitheatre Ce	rro de Villavieja, and the ruins of the castle	es of Santa Ana and Lo	os Bajos.

Property is on the whole cheaper than on the Costa del Sol, but prices have risen steadily over the past few years. This is expected to continue for quite some time as the resort is the fastest growing town in the province of Almeria. Roquetas de Mar is also planned to host part of the 2005 Mediterranean Games.

Even though the yields are not that exciting the opportunity for capital growth is. There has been and will be significant investment from the private and governmental sector till at least 2007. The government has ear-marked this area as one of it's flagship areas to promote Spain to the rest of the country. The private sector has followed through with investment accordingly. If you want a holiday home that offers you more than just the standard holiday facilities then this area could be right for you. It will become a resort than pines to be a city!

 Description Salou is a lively and modern tourist resort, popular with both British and Spanish families and couples. It has a palm treelined promenade parallel to the beach, along with coves. It has recently undergone remodelling to make it more attractive. There are 8 beaches in total stretching over 4 kms. The Salvador Dali museum is situated in nearby Figueres and there are also the historical towns of Tarragona and Altafulla nearby.

> I have chosen this place as there seems to be a lot happening here. It offers more than your average Spainish resort. A major regeneration programme has been undertaken so popularity of the area will increase. Yields are very respectable so a good return can be had here. Flights are cheap to Reus, the local airport, so getting here won't be a problem.

> There are not many british here but I suspect this will all change. There have been several residential developments springing up and most of the buyers are British. Capital growth is likely but the timescale is uncertain. What you can be certain of is above average yields. For me this makes it a good place to invest as the returns are based on some kind of reality rather than having to gaze in to the crystal ball.

Description Miami Playa is a seaside resort located 20 minutes south of Salou. There are no high-rise blocks or apartments, the beaches are far less crowded, and nightlife is limited. The resort has broad streets, with its residential areas a good distance form the main tourist resorts. The beaches are set in sand and shingle bays, overlooked by rocky cliffs.

Within the resort there are many developments consisting of villas, chalets and low-rise flats. Miami Playa is popular with foreign homebuyers such as the British, German, French, Dutch and Swiss, as well as the Spanish and local Catalans. Its very cheap to get here even in the peak season. If you book on the internet you could get a return flight for less than £50!

This area makes a great holiday home for the family and can provide a nice income when not used sufficient enough to cover all costs of the property. It's a non-resort resort area and gives you an alternative to what we know as a Spanish holiday. If I had to go for one area that offered the best capital growth then this would be it – do I need to say anymore!

Description Cadiz is located on the south-western tip of mainland Spain. It has a large port and is more of a cosmopolitan rather than a typically Andalusian city. It has a low cost of living and demand for long term lets is high. This area is not a resort but considered more like a city close to the coast. This area should strongly appeal to the worker type investor.

The main beach is Playa de la Caleta, but Playa de la Victoria is cleaner and has more sports facilities. Cadiz is popular with foreign buyers and residents. The old part of the city is surrounded by 18thcentury walls and has narrow streets full of tall 18th century houses and squares. Monuments include Cadiz Gothic cathedral and Torre Tavira baroque-style tower.

Yields are healthy and are expected to be in the future. Don't expect any significant capital growth as there is no news of any major inward investment – but don't let this put you off. A nice income stream can be had from a long term let. If you plough all the profits back in to repaying the mortgage then the property could be yours within 7 years. After that the rent is all profit!

Description	Islantilla is a new to	urist area recently de	veloped, with a large
:	golf resort, sandy be	aches and promenade	e. It is situated on the south-western coast	of the mainland, close	se to the border with Portugal and is a sn	nall, quiet resort. The	busy fishing town of Isla Cristina and the	city of Huelva are bot	h close by. There are a avaral white a and	haadhaa in thia area	which make the erec

Isla Cristina and the city of Huelva are both close by. There are several white sandy beaches in this area which make the area very desirable. Another draw to this area is the 27 hole golf course.

Capital growth is likely but not within 5 years. This is a long term investment punt. It's still being developed and has a long way to go but the right companies are moving in and if they are you should be too!

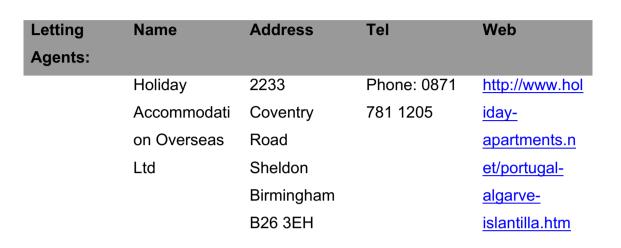

If you buy here you know you can be in Portugal within an hour. So you can almost have the best of both worlds. Access is easy as most airports fly to Faro, the airport serving this area. The entry level price is just above £100k so its not that cheap. Yields are affected accordingly and are therefore not that strong. The yields look sustainable however as price growth will not occur for a while. Yields may even increase over the short term depending on the popularity of the area.

Description A Coruna is an important trading, administrative and attractive city. Formerly known as La Coruna, A Coruna is an old maritime city located on the north-west coast. It has a busy harbour and an old quarter nicknamed 'the Groyne'. It has 4 long sandy beaches with cliffs and coves and a range of amenities. Inland is hilly and green. Monuments in old town include several churches e.g. 12th-century Church of Santiago; the 13th-century Church of Santa María del Campo. The Tower of Hercules lies at the port of Coruna and is the oldest fully working lighthouse in the world.

It is also one of the cheapest places to live in Spain. As a result you get double digit yields which only improve due to the season being all year round. Entry price for a 2 bed flat is only £50k so this part of Spain is accessible to most. This area does make good business investments. Employment is high, demand for rental properties are high and the scope for capital growth is almost definite.

The area is driveable to (around 11 hours) so can be easily accessed without the need to book flights for the whole family. It has some of the facilities you would find at the better southern resorts but not all. Quite nicely it has some facilites that you wouldn't find in these southern resorts such as classical Spanish cinemas and traditional religious festivals.

Description	Santander is t	he capital c	ity of Cantabr	ia, located v	within a bay and with a large port (recently expanded) and old quarter. The nearby resort of El Sardinero is 2 miles away with 4 sandy beaches: Camello, Concha, Primera and Segunda. Sights to visit include the Cathedral with Gothic crypt. The medieval town of Santillana del Mar is also a few kilometres away. Events include the International Music Festival in August.

Property is more expensive in Santander than the Asturias and Galicia. Visitors numbers are consistent and therefore demand is consistent for rental properties. There isn't much property development going on so your purchase is likely to be a re-sale property. The yields are slightly better than average so you can be assured that this area would be one of the safer investments.

There aren't many British here. Its unlikely there will be either unless everyone follows this bit of advice in the book! This is part of the appeal of this area to some investors. It has great connections to the rest of Spain and the public transport is quite developed compared to other areas. Owning a car is not necessary here.

There are plenty of employment opportunities in the agricultural sector. It's a great place to live and work here. There are many facilities as can be seen in the section above. The crime rate is also extremely low compared to anywhere in Europe. This makes this part of Spain unique considering Spain's wider problem of petty crime acroos most areas.

Description San Sebastian, locally known as Donostia, lies 21 km west of the French border. The city is set in a circular bay (La Concha), on the edge of thick forests inland. There are three beaches: Concha, the most famous one; Ondarreta and Zurriola (also called Gros). Concha and Ondarreta are into a bay adorned with Santa Clara Island.

Sights to see include Miramar Palace, which is between the Concha and Ondarreta beaches, the 19th century Buen Pastor cathedral, Castillo de la Santa Cruz de la Mota, and .Aiete's Palace in the Aiete neighbourhood. The city also has an old quarter (Parte Vieja).

San Sebastian is not the obvious choice to buy a holiday home in but it has the climate for a holiday home for nearly half a year. The area is driveable to (around 11 hours) so can be easily accessed without the need to book flights for the whole family. It has some of the facilities you would find at the better southern resorts but not all. Quite nicely it has some facilites that you wouldn't find in these southern resorts such as classical Spanish cinemas and traditional religious festivals.

Prices aren't necessarily cheap with entry prices starting from 200,000 Euros. The level of English spoken is lower than the resorts down south. Demand for rental properties is consistent throughout the year from the French as well as the English.

Description	Situated in northern	Costa Blanca in the	Marina Alta region,
:	Javea is a small hist	oric town set around a	a sea port at the foot of Montgo mountain.	The 3 main areas are):
	1) The old town - trac	ditional architecture an	d narrow streets,
	2) Aduana del mar -	the old fisherman's qu	arter on the coast by the marina and fishin	g port, and
	3) El Arena - the mai	n resort area with bea	ches.
	Javea is relatively qu	iet and is away from tl	he main roads. It has with 8 beaches includi
		ine also has caves an	0
		ghts to see in the o
	Church of San Barth	-

Property is expensive compared to the rest of the coast and the area is popular with foreign investors. The yields are okay but have been eroded a bit in the last 5 years due to the popularity of this area from these investors. Its still a good area however as capital growth is likely. This area appeals to the discerning investor wishing to combine holidaying with speculative investing.

over 4 miles of beaches alongside a palm-lined promenade.

Don't expect to make much of a return on your money. A purchase here is to enjoy your investment and hope for a return from capital growth. If you like what I like about this place then you'll be assured that someone else will 10 years down the line. The direction Spain is going any property bought in Spain will return above average returns. The more desirable area it is the more assured the gain will materialise.

There are not that many operators that land in this area which can work for you. There isn't a heavy influx in or out of this area so the pace of the area is much slower than what you would expect from a coastal Spainish resort.

Description	One of the oldest	resorts	in Spain, Benido	orm is extrem	ely well-developed and is Spain's biggest and busiest tourist resort. Mass tourism since the 1960's has led to many high-rise hotel and apartment blocks being built to form a new town. More recently there have been more green areas built in an attempt to improve its image.

Benidorm has 2 main areas: the old town, with its traditional fishing port, and the new town, where the main resort lies. Benidorm has many visitors all year round. The 2 crescent-shaped main beaches stretched over 4 miles are Levante and Poniente.

Benidorm is very lively with a huge abundance of nightlife. It is the busiest resort in Costa Blanca and demand for rental properties is consistent. The season is an all year round season so simply owning a property here to make money is possible. If you're looking for an apartment then go for one as close as you can to the beach. Because you'll have rental competition from other landlords you have to have one that's more attractive than the rest and being near the beach achieves this.

Several beaches on city outskirts. San Juan de Alicante beach to east of city is over 5 miles long. There are 5 more beaches in the area and all are Blue Flag (clean and high standard).

Traffic congestion, noise and pollution however a problem, along with rising crime rate. The old quarter (known as Santa Cruz) has narrow streets which can be dangerous as well as picturesque.

Residential areas surround the city e.g. Carolinas to the northeast, and Albufereta, Dos Bahias and Nuevo Alicante to the east. Property in the city centre is more expensive than on the outskirts so these residential areas can prove more value for money. There is an excellent transport system that supports the city so getting around will never be a problem. Road connections have improved significantly over the last 5 years and will continue to do so.

Description A popular tourist destination in the Costa Blanca, Torrevieja is a busy resort still being developed. It is situated within 2 large natural salt lakes called 'Salterns of Torrevieja'. Sights to see include the large Moorish tower (Torre del Moro) and Church of the Immaculate Conception. There are also many beaches and amenities.

It can be lively, noisy and crowded, particularly in Summer. Also there is a rising crime rate involving burglary and theft. However the area has the cheapest property on the Costa Blanca and as the town is constantly developing and property prices are expected to rise. Yields are not that brilliant but the prospect for capital growth compensates for this. If you're looking for a holiday home that will pay for itself for 5 years and then sell on to make a profit then this area will meet this goal.

Funnily enough Torrevieja is also particularly popular with visitors with allergic and respiratory problems, who are thought to benefit from the salty environment but don't rely on this market to make your investment decision!

strip has mostly apartments and hotels, while the eastern end is quieter and more residential, with many townhouses and villas.

For some reason this area is undervalued. You can get a 2 bed apartment for less than £50k! Yields are fantastic even though the off-peak season has low demand. If you can manage to let it out through the peak periods you will cover all costs of ownership. There is a shortage of villas in this area so investment in one of these will ensure a high occupancy rate.

There is plenty to do here and there always will be. This area is one of the most established resorts in Costa Blanca. Not only will this be a safe investment due to the attraction of tenants because of its facilities it will be a fun place to have a holiday home as there is so much to do.

Description	Orihuela Costa is the	e 10 mile-long coastlir	e located outside escription Orihuela Costa is the 10 mile-long coastline located outside the inland town of Orihuela, situated on the southern part of the Costa Blanca. The area consists of beaches with coves and is lined with palm trees. There are also almond and dry olive groves.

The town of Orihuela is itself an historic town. There are 14 historical sites in total, including Catedral del San Salvador y Santa Maria and the Palacio Rubalcava. There are several residential developments in the area, such as Cabo Roig, Dehesa de Campoamor, La Zenia, Playa Flamenca and Punta Prima. These areas have gained popularity with both Spanish and foreign homebuyers.

There are not many British here but this will all change. Numerous developments are springing up here and the biggest buyers have been the British. The yields achievable here are promising even though not exciting. What I do find exciting however, is the opportunity for capital gain. Once developed the property prices will mirror the prices being achieved in the rest of Costa Blanca.

Description	Palma is the capita	I city of Majorca- the	largest island of the
:	Balearics situated	93 miles off the eas	st coast of mainland
	Spain. Palma is loc	ated on the coast wit	hin the Bay of Palma and over half of th	e island's population	are believed to live there.
	The city is lively, co	osmopolitan and Engl	ish is widely spoken.
	Sights to see inclu	ude the Royal Palace	e (La Almudaina), a
	Gothic castle (Castil	llo de Bellver) and a li	mestone cathedral (la Seo).

The cost of living is high but this also assumes a higher quality of life. This is bourne out by the high rental values which have led to the astronomical yields possible. Don't think these yields will last forever. Preices will correct which will bring down these yields by around half, so don't hang about – buy while its cheap!

Unemployment rates are low and therefore job prospects are good. So if you're thinking of moving over for good and you happily tend to the services industry then you'll never be short of a job. Prospects are also good for the professional sector as there haqs been a trend towards these type of companies locating their Spainish branch here.

	It is a lively city a	and a noi	sy one! Crime	rates are hig	gh but its not serious crime	e, just pe	tty theft, so be	sure to go	for a site with CCTV or 24 I	hour secl	urity guards.

Rental rates are high due to the demand for accommodation in this area. Your likely tenants are going to groups of young people but they do pay handsomely. This far outweighs the risk of taking these type of tenants on as any potential damage will be deducted from their sizeable deposit handed over at the point of booking your property.

These yields will not last forever! Property prices will rise so get in early. Magaluf is here to stay so acquiring a property here, in the long term, is of relatively low financial risk. You can easily get flights to this area so it will always appeal to the package holidaymaker.

Description	Alcudia is a re	sort located	on the north e	east coast, s	ituated in a bay called Port d'Alcudia. The coastline within the bay is built up with many hotels and apartment blocks, forming a resort popular with the British. There are 7 miles of beaches in the resort - the longest stretch on the island. Alcudia also has an historic walled old town with Roman remains.

> Like the rest of Majorca, property in the area is relatively expensive but you do get a good rent for the peak periods. Majorca is here to stay so acquiring a property here, in the long term, is of relatively low risk. You can easily get flights to this area so it will always appeal to the package holidaymaker.

> The season is longer than most but not all year round. There are many villas for sale and a lot can be had for your money. The re-sale market is quite developed and there are bargains popping up every now and again. I would suggest buying at least half a mile inland or more from the coast as you get better value for money compared to the sea front properties.

Description	Mahon is the capital of Menorca- the second largest island in :	the Balearics. The city is situated on the east coast of the island and has its own port	and harbour.

Property consists of mainly low-level buildings of Moorish and British architecture. There are several historical buildings, including the Arch de San Roque, the Town Hall, (built in 1631) and the Church of Santa Maria (rebuilt between 1748 and 1772).

There are relatively few high-rise buildings and the city is more tranquil compared to other Balearic islands. The British are the main foreign purchasers of property in the area, and Menorca has the cheapest property out of all the Balearic Islands.

Although it is a busy resort it is still relatively quiet compared to other Balearic Islands. Likely tenants will be families looking for a well rounded activity packed holiday. The great thing about this island is that its cheap to get to. This has kept a steady flow of tenants into the area all requiring a property for the week or fortnight. With this increased demand it has led to rental prices shooting up. As a result fantastic yields are being achieved and good yields, at the very least, will be achievable in the foreseeable future.

Description	Los Delfines is lo	ocated on th	ne west coa	st of Menorca	a and is :	one of the island	's three mos	st developed	and popular	resorts, aimed at package	holiday tou	rists.

The area consists of 3 smaller resorts: Cala'n Forcat, Cala'n

Brut and Cala'n Blanes There are 3 busy beaches, a large choice of restaurants, bars, shops & supermarkets. The main street (Avda. Los Delfines) runs from one end of the resort close to beaches 1 & 2 all the way to Cala'n Blanes at the other end where beach no.3 is.

Although it is a busy resort it is still relatively quiet compared to other Balearic Islands. Likely tenants will be families looking for a well rounded activity packed holiday. The great thing about this island is that its cheap to get to. This has kept a steady flow of tenants into the area all requiring a property for the week or fortnight. Description	Ibiza Town is the ca	apital of Ibiza, one of	the Balearic Islands
:	located 52 miles fr	om the eastern Spa	nish coast. Although most of the island is	s unspoilt with rural a	architecture and olive groves, resorts such	as Ibiza Town are ve	ery busy during peak season.

Most residents of Ibiza live in Ibiza Town. It is essentially an old town, the old quarter being known as 'Dalt Villa' with narrow cobbled streets, an old medieval castle, cathedral and stone walls. The three other main districts of the town are Puig des Molins (in the hills), Sa Penya (old fishing district), and Eixample (modern quarter).

The town has a large gay and hippy population, and this is reflected in the local hippy markets. Like Majorca, property in Ibiza is relatively expensive, although prices are expected to continue rising. This does not surprise me as the rental yields are brilliant. Its only a matter of time before this yields are eroded away by the spiralling property prices to be seen from this area. My advice to you is get in there quick!

One drawback of the area is that not only does Ibiza attract holidaymakers it also attracts the thieves! Ibiza is addressing this problem and there is a stronger police presence than there was before. Spain understand that this island is the jewel in their crown and they will do whatever it takes to protect it.

- Description San Antonio is situated on the west of the island and is the most lively and popular destination on Ibiza, particularly with young adults. The town is into 2 main areas: the West End (where the majority of nightlife is located) and the Bay (a port surrounded by huge developments). There is also an old town with some preserved architecture.

San Antonio bay has 5 small beaches. The beaches are rocky compared to the east coast, however this makes it ideal for scuba diving and other watersports. Although there are no public or private hospitals in the area there are several public health centres.

There are many high-rise hotel and apartment blocks in the area. Although property in most of the island is considered to be expensive, apartments in San Antonio are slightly cheaper and offer better value. Like Playa d'en Bossa demand for rental properties is focused on the peak season only but the rental prices are sufficient enough to cover all costs and more.

One drawback of the area is that not only does San Antonio attract holidaymakers it also attracts the thieves! Ibiza is addressing this problem and there is a stronger police presence than there was before. Spain understand that this island is the jewel in their crown and they will do whatever it takes to protect it.

Description	Playa d'en Bossa is a	a large, purpose-bui	It resort and suburb
:	located south of the ca	pital. It consists of he	otels and apartments surrounding one palm	-lined main street, v	with a lively nightlife atmostphere.
	It also has Ibiza's lo	ngest blue-flag san	dy beach. Although there are no public o	r private hospitals ir	the area there are several public health c	entres.
	Property is expensive	e here but its exper	nsive everywhere in Ibiza! Playa d'en Boss	sa can be one of the	cheaper alternatives to other areas in the is	sland. The rental de	emand is strong only in the peak seasons a	as the temperature of	drops significantly in the winter. But the r	rent is sufficient in t	hese peak times to cover the voids in the winter and much more.

This area is one of the few places in Ibiza where it is suitable for all the family. Ibiza is THE island of Spain and will be for the next 20 years. Your investment is safe here as there will always be a ready rental and resale market for your property.

One drawback of the area is that not only does Ibiza attract holidaymakers it also attracts the thieves! Ibiza is addressing this problem and there is a stronger police presence than there was before. Spain understand that this island is the jewel in their crown and they will do whatever it takes to protect it.

Description	Tenerife is the lar	gest of t	he Canary Islar	nds, and Play	ya de las
:	Americas is Ten	erife's la	argest and mo	st develope	d resort, situated on the se	outh-wes	t coast of the i	sland. There	e is lively nightlife and a va	ariety of	leisure activitie	es. If you l	ike lively holidays then this	may be	the perfect plac	e to invest a	s there is plenty to do in the	day, eve	ening and early	hours of the	morning!

One thing that is noticeable of this area in the past few years are that its going more upmarket. There seems to be a demand for better quality hotels as Tenerife is establishing itself as being one of the better islands in Spain. With this will attract a better type of holidaymaker. If you can get a property near the beach or up in the hills then you'll have no trouble letting it out and you can afford to be fussy over who you have as tenants.

Capital growth is likely due to the influx of investment in this area. The movement upwards of the area's image is helping push up demand for properties so be quick!

reflect the desirability of this resort.

This area is considered to be the more affluent part of Tenerife and there are many classical concerts throughout the year to cater for this type of clientele. Its quite a journey to get here, being 62 miles from the airport, but this preserves its exclusivity.

The climate is what you would expect from Tenerife being neither too hot or too cold all year round. Using your holiday home throughout the year is possible as is renting the property out. If you can stall using your home then its worth considering a long term let for 1 year or more. There is big demand for long term lets and tenants are willing to pay a premium for this thus further enhancing your yields.

Description	Los Cristianos is Ter	nerife's second larges	t resort. It is situated
:	around a port and un	like Playa de las Ame	ricas developed from a fishing village. A	lthough it is full of	high-rise apartment complexes and large	e resorts, it still retair	ns a trace of this old fishing town charm.	There are 2 main	beaches offrering a variety of watersport	s and excursions. It is	s a popular place for owning holiday home	9.
	The prices are not a	as attractive as other	parts of Tenerife but you can be assured	of an all year round	let. The yields are reflected accordingly	/ but the area still o	ffers above average yields. Do not ex	pect double digit ca	apital growth figures because you won't	get it. This part of	Tenerife is already developed but what i	t will offer you is an ex	cellent holiday home that will pay for itself	and more!

Description	Located on the se	outh coast,	Costa del Silenci	o is quieter t	han other
:	resorts in Tenerife	e and is po	pular with people	and families	seeking a peaceful retreat.	It is a pu	rpose-built resort	, has a sma	all pebble beach and is clos	e by the sm	nall fishing commu	nity of Las G	alletas.

Its one of Tenerife's unsung resorts but it won't be for long! Prices are cheaper in this area compared to the rest of Tenerife hence the yields are well above average. The seasonal demand for property tails off in the off-peak season but demand still exists. If you require all year round occupation then make sure your property is better than the rest so it appeals more to prospective tenants.

Its easily accessible from the UK as there are many direct flights to the local airport which is only 3 miles away. There will be a second runway added to the airport being built to cater for the extra demand expected for this area and surrounding. There is a shortage of homes being re-sold as people want to hold on to what they've got! If you can find a property with sea views that yields 12% or greater then buy it!

Description	Caleta de Fuste is	s a mode	rn and develop	ing resort sit	uated on :	the east coast, s	outh of t	he capital Pue	erto del Rosa	ario. The resort is set in a	a wide b	ay and is par	ticularly favo	oured by families and couples.

Fuerteventura is the second largest of the Canary Islands and is also one of the sunniest and hottest of the islands. Although resorts can be noisy and busy, the island in general is relatively undeveloped, so is possible to have a relaxing and peaceful holiday.

There are many holiday home developments in Caleta de Fuste. Also as the area is currently still quite undeveloped so there is room for capital appreciation. The property market is currently growing at a rate of 20% per year. There is high demand for new properties and prices are rising. Rental rates are quite healthy so yields are too. I've given this area 10 out 10 as it has all the facilities and the potential profits!

Description	Las Palmas is the o	capital city of Gran	Canaria (the 3 rd largest
:	Canary Island) and	also the shopping	capital of the islands.
	Every shop you nee	ed can be found her	e. It has a big city feel and the restaurants	s help to match that	at with cuisine from all around the world to	·
	One thing that is g	reat about this part	is that the public bus
	c c	•	car driver but want to move to Spain then	-
	Despite the 3 million	on holidaymakers s	eeking sun shine and relaxation the islan	d has maintained it	ts rural, Mediterranean charm. Although it is no longer as popular as southern resorts, it has a large foreign population and is very cosmopolitan.

Its coastline is around 4 miles long. It also has an old quarter in the Vegueta and Triana districts in the south. Visitors numbers are consistent and therefore demand is consistent for rental properties. There isn't much development going on so your purchase is likely to be a re-sale property. The yields are slightly better than average so you can be assured that this area would be one of the safer investments.

The resort is the biggest and liveliest on the island, with a huge • choice of bars, restaurants, pubs and nightclubs and busy This area has the best beaches stretched over 10 miles. climate on the island and also has guite a strong breeze so its popular with the wind surfers.

> On the beachfront lies a long, palm-fringed promenade. It has quite a strong nightclub scene and many of the clubs go on in to daybreak. You can guess that it is popular with the younger generations. The resort can get very crowded during the Summer so demand for rental properties will always exist.

> Considering the climate is warm all year round a good strategy would be to rent the property during school peak, peak and part off-peak and then enjoy the rest! The island is not difficult to get to and bargain flights can be had off the internet if you book well in advance and fly in the off-peak times.

Description	Puerto del Carmen is a resort situated near the capital of Lanzarote,
:	Arrecife. It is the largest and liveliest resort on the island with several beaches stretched over 3 miles, a variety of shops and a thriving nightlife. As well as having a golden sandy beach there is also an old town which has plenty to see.

This area enjoys a mild dry climate all year round so it is always in demand. In demand from both people wishing to live here and from people wishing to holiday here to. It is particularly popular with young singles and couples. There is an established long term rental market so this area would suit anyone wishing to buy a home with the intention of residing in it in the future, say 5 to 10 years away.

The local property market is healthy and the area is constantly being developed. However this should soon reach a peak so demand for new properties will be high.

Description	Playa Blanca is a re	elatively peaceful resort l	ocated on the south:	west coast of Lanz	arote. Only recently is	the resort becoming developed with many new hotels and apartments which all seem to be catering for the luxurious end of the market.

The three beaches all have bright sands which is making Playa Blanca the choice of many to settle to. At present the resort offers a limited choice of restaurants and shopping but this will all change in 5 years. There is already substantial committed funds from the private sector to make this area a playground for the rich. There will be several Casinos, upmarket bars and clubs, several five star hotels with a la carte menus all landing by 2008.

Yields are fantastic here as property prices are (currently!) cheap and rental prices are healthy. Demand is high for rentals as the area has an all year round season. The island is one of the more easily accessed island compared to the others in its group so there will always be a steady influx of ready and waiting tenants for your property.

Description	La Palma is the fif	th largest	of the Canary	/ Islands. Is tr	iangular
:	shaped with a v	varied lan	dscape cons	isting of mo	untains, woodlands, black	sandy bay	rs and a volca	anic crater (kr	nown as Caldera de Taburiente).
	La Palma is less	developed	than Tenerif	e, Gran Cana	aria and

La Palma is less developed than Tenerife, Gran Canaria and Lanzarote and most of it is unspoilt, including the capital Santa Cruz de la Palma. The capital is situated on the west coast, and has well-preserved colonial architecture. South of the capital is the quiet beach resort of Los Cancajos. In the south of the island is the lively resort of Fuencalienta de la Palma, and on the west of the island are the quieter resorts of Puerto de Tazacorte and Puerto Naos. Puerto Naos is renowned for its beach.

There are few flights to this Island, only accessible from two UK airports, but this can be a good thing if you want a quieter life in Spain. You can get to La Palma by taking a flight to Tenerife and then a ferry across if you wish and can work out a lot cheaper!

La Palma makes a perfect retirement home. As it is quiet but is still close enough to the buzz and commercialism of Tenerife if required by ferry and the property prices are not as high compared to the rest of the Islands. There is a high demand for property as construction is limited. Expect prices to rise as La Palma becomes more discovered by outsiders.

Description	La Gomera has	one of tl	he smallest po	pulations am	ong the :	Canary Islands th	nus is lar	gely undevelop	ed and unsp	oilt. The island is very mo	ountainou	s, forming lake	s and waterf	alls and valleys rich in water. There is also a variety of flora on the island e.g. fig tree	es, orange	e trees, cacti ar	nd over 100.0	00 palm trees.
	The canital San S	Sehastian	de Gomera is	the island's m	nain nort
	The capital San Sebastian de Gomera is the island's main port

The capital San Sebastian de Gomera is the island's main port and is an historic town famous for being the starting base of Christopher Columbus in 1492. Directly opposite the capital lies the developing resort of Valle Gran Rey, which is proving to be more and more popular each year. The resort has many coffee shops along the sea front which is perfect to relax and look over at the ocean and with a trained eye you can see Tenerife! Look out for Hermigua where you buy all the crafts produced by this Island and send back as gifts to your friends and family.

There are few flights to this Island, only accessible from two UK airports, but this can be a good thing if you want a quieter life in Spain. You can get to La Gomera by taking a flight to Tenerife and then a ferry across if you wish and can work out a lot cheaper!

There is a high demand for property as future construction is limited. Prices are expected to rise over the next few years due to the lack of supply. If you are looking for a quiet holiday home that you can rent out during the off-peak seasons then La Gomera could be the place. It has high demand all the year through and generally your tenants will be of an older age so the risk of damage is minimal.

Description	Granada is lo	ocated in ea	astern Andalus	sia, at the	foot of the :	Sierra Nevad	a mountain	range. It is e	ssentially a	n historical city, and hous	ses the Moo	orish palace kr	nown as the	e Alhambra which is Spair	which is Spain's most visited monument.

Around the Alhambra is the Moorish quarter of Albaicin, a particular hotspot within the city, where property is highly desired. The houses are characterised by being set within cobbled stoned streets and they are all brilliant white in colour. There are many squares dotted within this area to relax and take in the views, including the Alhambra itself.

Apart from the historical element, the city is also cosmopolitan with many tourists and university students. Property is in demand as there is a relative shortage of re-sale properties, although there has been much recent construction around the city's outskirts. Even so, prices are expected to continue rising.

The holiday season, ironically, is quieter than other times. Because the students go home and others head to the resorts to relax on the beach. But the nightlife is by no way quiet! The are really only two sections which stay open late:

- 1. Pedro Alarcon which is for the 18-30 age range
- 2. Plaza Nueva which is for the older crowd

There is an uprising of unofficial parties by the younger residents which depending on how you feel about could be a good thing or a bad thing!

Description Valencia is Spain's third largest city and is situated on the east coast. It has a thriving business district which makes Valencia one of the more important cities than others in the whole of the the Mediterranean. Its total catchment population is in excess of 1.5 million if you take in to account the surrounding towns that feed of the commercial success of the city.

It is a well connected city through road, rail, port and airport links and therefore has a far more cosmopolitan feel than its other neighbouring cities. Valencia also enjoys an even climate through the year averaging out at around 17C so summers are not too hot neither winters too cold.

When you arrive there its obvious that it places the conduct of business high in its priorities. It used to be the financial capital of Europe 500 years ago and you can see that it is trying to regain that title now. There are futuristic exhibition halls that attract other businesses around the world to congregate and trade.

The futurism doesn't stop there however. Even the arts and leisure buildings are all being redesigned to meet the demands of the 21st century.

It has its own dialect-Valenciano, which is a form of Catalan and is highly used – but the use of English is higher in Valencia than other cities. It is a lively city and a noisy one! Crime rates are high but its not serious crime, just petty theft so be sure to go for a site with CCTV or 24 hour security guards.

There is lots of property for sale (mostly apartments), and cheap houses can be found on the city outskirts. It also has 2 universities so there is a demand for student rentals for most of the year.
